

Elizabeth Argus has worked throughout the Gulf Coast and Washington, D.C. areas as an award-winning singer, dancer, actress, choreographer, director, teacher, and voice-over talent.

A frequent performer with such companies as Tulane Summer Lyric Theatre, the True Brew Theatre, Southern Repertory Theatre, the Jefferson Performing Arts Society, and the Loyola Ballet, Elizabeth most recently appeared as a featured soloist with the Louisiana Philharmonic Orchestra in their annual holiday pops concert.

Miss Argus studied voice and musical theater direction at Tulane University, where she received a Master of Fine Arts degree.

Along with her sisters Mary, Caroline, and Anne, Elizabeth co-founded Loeber Entertainment and the Loeber Center for Dramatic Arts, where she now teaches acting and voice.

Together with her husband John Meehan and daughter Teresa, Elizabeth recently returned to the New Orleans area, where she grew up. Her family's base of operations is right here in Bay St. Louis in the old Ballard home. In fact, with this performance at Our Lady of the Gulf, Elizabeth Argus comes full circle, returning to the very place where she attended grammar school and mass as a little girl. "It is an honor and a delight to perform right here at OLG and for my good friend, Ed."
